DEEP MOAT GRANGE

By S. R. Crockett, author of "The Lilac Sunbonnet," etc.

This novel is Mr. Crockett's latest effort and his latest triumph. Deep Moat Grange is a dilapidated estate near the village of Breckonside, in Northern England. The story is told through the lips of a Yorkshire lad, who, with Elsie, the heroine, and a curate, are the leading characters. An attempt is made to obtain possession of the ill-gotten fortune of Elsie's miser grandfather. From the time the mail-cart appears in the village, driverless, and spotted with blood, the mystery deepens. It is the tale of young love and heroism, murder and mystery, told in the popular author's most readable style.

THE CENTURY CO.'S SPRING BOOKS

COME AND FIND ME

By ELIZABETH ROBINS, author of "The Magnetic North," etc. Eleven full-page illustrations by BLUMENSCHN. 12mo, 531 pages. $1.50.

Here is a book—a rarely thrilling book—in which first, last, and all the time the call of the North is the dominating note. It rules the lives and loves of the very real men and women who hear and follow the call, "Come and Find Me."

SEEING ENGLAND WITH UNCLE JOHN

By ANNE WARNER, author of "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," "Seeing France with Uncle John," etc. Numerous illustrations by GRUGER. Index. 12mo, 492 pages. $1.50.

First, last, and all the time, Uncle John is funny—innocently, unconsciously, irresistibly funny. You feel that as a traveling companion Uncle John would be an awful infliction; but Uncle John in perspective is delicious, and his views of the way England does things make rich and racy reading.

FRITZI

By AGNES McCLELLAND DAULTON, author of "From Sioux to Susan," "Wings and Stings," "Autobiography of a Butterfly," etc. Fourteen illustrations by FLORENCE E. STORER. 12mo, 417 pages. $1.50.

This story of little Fritzi's wanderings till the return of her long-lost father to claim his motherless child is told with much sympathy and skill, and its rare charm and tender sentiment appeal to grown-ups as well as to girls and boys.

THE FOUR-POOLS MYSTERY

By ?. Frontispiece by GEORGE VARIAN. 12mo, 336 pages. $1.50.

An unusual and stirring story of mystery and tragedy, in which the portrayal of life on a Southern plantation and the horror and fear roused in the negroes by what they believed manifestations of the ancestral "ha'nt" is clearly and vividly done. It is a book to keep its readers up nights.

MY LOST DUCHESS

By JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS, author of "The Stolen Story," "The Adventures of a Freshman," etc. Charminglly illustrated in tint, and with a lunette on the cover by WALLACE MORGAN. 12mo, 311 pages. $1.50.

Such a merry, tender, idyllic story of young hearts and innocent loves, with Fifth Avenue for a setting and old New York for a background, and with a pretty touch of mystery to pique interest and keep the reader anxious to the end.

THE CHEERFUL SMUGGLERS

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER, author of "Pigs is Pigs," "The Confessions of a Daddy," etc. Eight illustrations by MAY WILSON PRESTON. 16mo, 250 pages. $1.00.

More of this popular author's fun, a bundle of absurd complications and ridiculous situations arising from a young couple's scheme to provide funds for their year-old son's education. It is a veritable Stocktonian story, as delightfully absurd in theme as it is realistic in characterization.

A HANDFUL OF VERSE

By HARRISON S. MORRIS, for many years Managing Director Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, and author of "Tales from Ten Poets," "Madonna and Other Poems," etc. 16mo, 110 pages. $1.00 net. Postage 6 cents.

A collection of the latest and ripest poetical writings of this well-known Philadelphia author, editor and art critic.

POEMS (New Edition.)

By ROBERT UNDERWOOD JOHNSON, author of "The Winter Hour," "Songs of Liberty," etc. 16mo, about 300 pages. $1.20 net. Postage 8 cents.

Contains the five long pieces by which Mr. Johnson is best known, with practically all of his shorter poems.

THE CENTURY CO., Union Square, New York

SCRIBNER SPRING BOOKS

BIOGRAPHY, TRAVEL, HISTORY

LIFE AND LETTERS OF GEORGE BANCROFT. By M. A. DeWOLFE HOWE. Illustrated. 2 volumes. $4.00 net. Postage extra.

One of the most important books of biography and history of recent years. The long life of George Bancroft (1800-1891) almost covered the nineteenth century; and during the greater part of it, as scholar, historian, statesman and diplomatist, he had a wider personal acquaintance with the great figures among his contemporaries than perhaps any other American.

IN KOREA WITH MARQUIS ITO. By GEORGE TRUMBULL LADD, LL.D. Illustrated. $2.50 net. Postpaid, $2.70.

The most important book on Korea and her relations with Japan that has ever been brought out. Professor Ladd had, through his relations with Marquis Ito, very exceptional facilities for personal observation in Korea, and unprecedented opportunities for obtaining inside information and accurate knowledge as to the past and present conduct of Japan and her present intentions. Much hitherto unpublished diplomatic material was placed in his hands. No one can, in the future, write the history of these events, or discuss them with authority, without making himself familiar with the views and conclusions of Professor Ladd in this book.

THE OLD DOMINION. Her Making and Her Manners. By THOMAS NELSON PAGE. $1.50 net. Postpaid, $1.62.

An account of the early history and later development of Virginia and of the men and women and the manners and customs that grew up in it. Mr. Page is full of the knowledge of his subject and writes of his native State with the literary skill, grace, and enthusiasm that make the book as brilliant as literature as it is valuable as history. He takes up such subjects as Jamestown, Colonial Life, Thomas Jefferson and the University of Virginia, The Old Dominion Since the War, An Old Neighborhood in Virginia, and An Old Virginia Sunday.

MEMOIRS OF THE COMTESSE DE BOIGNE. Third and Final Volume, 1810-1820. $2.50 net. Postpaid, $2.70.

In the third and final volume of her delightful memoirs the Comtesse de Boigne describes the latter part of the reign of Louis XVIII. and that of Charles X., and gives a most remarkable eye-witness account of the revolution of July that put Louis Philippe on the throne of France.

HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY. By JOHN R. SPEARS. Illustrated. $1.50 net. Postpaid, $1.62.

"Told by Mr. Spears with fine spirit, skilled drafting from official documents contributing to the brilliancy as well as the authenticity."—The Providence Journal.

THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION. By FREDERIC J. STIMSON. $1.25 net. Postpaid, $1.35.

"A perusal of a work like this will be of very great benefit to the patriotic American who desires to inform himself of the merits and demerits of the discussions in progress over some very vital questions of government policy . . . a book to read and ponder over and have always convenient in your library."—Philadelphia Record.

BRADFORD'S HISTORY OF PLYMOUTH PLANTATION, 1606-1646. Edited by the Hon. WILLIAM T. DAVIS, of Plymouth. With a map and three facsimile reproductions. $3.00 net. Postpaid, $3.24.

An ably edited edition of one of the most important and interesting of the first hand accounts of the early settlers.

GOVERNOR JOHN WINTHROP'S JOURNAL. The History of New England, 1630-1649. Edited by Dr. J. K. HOSMER. In two volumes, with maps and facsimile reproductions. $3.00 net. Postpaid, $3.24.

A reprint in two volumes, with a biographical and bibliographical introduction giving the events from day to day for a period of nineteen years in the history of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

FICTION

VERA, THE MEDIUM. By RICHARD HARDING DAVIS. Illustrated. $1.50.

The romance of a medium, full of tragedy and humor and a thrilling love story. The heroine is of a kind new to fiction and the story is told with the vigor and skill that make Mr. Davis the most popular of story-tellers.

TRUE STORIES OF CRIME. From the District Attorney's Office. By ARTHUR TRAIN. Illustrated. $1.50.

Literally and in fact, true stories of crime. The characters are men and women who lived and schemed, laughed, sinned and suffered, and these are the stories of the most dramatic and even tragic episodes in their careers, told with the art of a master of the craft and possessing a deep and absorbing human interest.

THE FOOTPRINT, and Other Stories. By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS. $1.50.

A weird and fantastic story of the East and the West, the mystery of the one and the humor of the other, with other stories of adventure, sentiment, and fun.

OLD MR. DAVENANT'S MONEY. A Romance of Long Island. By FRANCES POWELL. $1.50.

A story of mystery of to-day on Long Island, with the rush and sweep of absorbing plot and a delightful love story.

THE SENTIMENTAL ADVENTURES OF JIMMY BULSTRODE. By MARIE VAN VORST. Illustrated. $1.50.

The adventures and experiments of one of the most likeable and amusing characters in modern fiction. Full of fun and very attractive sentiment.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME, and Other College Stories. By JESSE LYNCH WILLIAMS. Illustrated. $1.50.

The athletics, the fun and the sentiment, the heroes and the failures, the study and the sport that are part of life in college make up these lively, well-written, and, above all, real stories. The book includes "Eight Talks to a Kid Brother."

HIS FIRST LEAVE. By L. ALLEN HARKER. $1.50.

"Mrs. Harker has shown in 'Paul and Fiammetta' how successfully she can present the thoughts and doings of childhood. In this new novel she dispalsys the same rare gift."—London Athenæum.

THE NUN. By RENÉ BAZIN. $1.00.

"It is difficult to speak in measured terms of this book. An exquisite story, it is beautifully translated."—Daily Telegraph.

"It is a book which no one who reads it will ever forget."—Westminster Gazette.

THE STAGE DOOR. By CHARLES BELMONT DAVIS. Illustrated. $1.50.

Stories of theatrical life, both on and off the stage, full of breeziness, humor and good fellowship.

THE OLD ROOM. By CARL EWALD. Translated by A. TEIXEIRA DE MATTOS. $1.25.

The relations of Fru Adelheid, young, pretty, pleasure loving, and her husband, Cordt, make a novel of unusual power. It is intensely human and very modern, a domestic drama of amazing force and frankness.

MONOLOGUES. By BEATRICE HERFORD. Illustrated by O. HERFORD. $1.25.

"Not only are her monologues mercilessly true and satirical, but they illustrate the power of suggestion at its highest."—The New York Sun.

ILLUSTRATED BOOKS FOR TRAVEL LOVERS

BRITISH HIGHWAYS AND BYWAYS FROM A MOTOR CAR

By THOMAS D. MURPHY

With 16 full-page illustrations in colors and 32 in duogravure, route maps, and an exhaustive index. 8vo, decorative cover and wrapper, in a box, $3.00.

A beautiful volume of travel, thoroughly covering the town and country roads of England which are available for motoring; replete with charming and refreshing descriptions of landscapes which are picturesque and landmarks which are always of interest. It contains much information of a practical nature as well as sprightly historical comment.

IN THE LAND OF MOSQUES AND MINARETS: Rambles in Algeria and Tunisia

By FRANCIS MILTOUN

Author of "Rambles on the Riviera," "Castles and Chateaux of Old Navarre," etc.

With over 80 illustrations, many in full color from drawings by Blanche McManus. 8vo, decorative cover and wrapper, in a box, $3.00.

It might perhaps have been prophesied that the author and artist who had collaborated in so many appreciative and popular works of travel covering all of France should follow France across the wonderful blue Mediterranean, to the land of the Moor, the Arab, the Turk, and the Jew, for material for their latest "Book of Rambles."

BELLES LETTRES

A NEW BOOK BY BLISS CARMAN

THE MAKING OF PERSONALITY

By the author of "Pipes of Pan," "The Kinship of Nature," etc. One volume, library 12mo, cloth decorative, with photogravure frontispiece, boxed, $1.50.

The essays in Mr. Carman's new book are a valuable contribution to the subject of character-building.

He touches upon all its three phases, the physical, the mental, and the spiritual or emotional, and is new in the emphasis he places on the threefold character of man's nature.

FICTION

T. Jenkins Hains's BAHAMA BILL

Author of "The Black Barque," etc. Cloth decorative, with frontispiece in colors by H. R. Reuterdaahl. $1.50.

Captain Hains's descriptions of life at sea are vivid, absorbingly frank and remarkably true. "Bahama Bill" ranks high as a stirring, realistic, unsoftened and undiluted tale of the sea, chock full of engrossing interest.

FICTION.—Continued

Robert Lee Durham's THE CALL OF THE SOUTH

"When Your Fear Cometh as Desolation and Your Destruction Cometh as a Whirlwind"

With 6 striking illustrations by Henry Roth. $1.50.

Dealing with the very vital race problem, its principal theme is the danger to society from the increasing miscegenation of the white and black races. Mr. Durham has written an absorbing drama of life; and whether the reader agrees with him or not, his restraint and the evident honesty of his purpose will merit admiration. But after all it is the story which he tells which will cause the book to be read and discussed. A story of tremendous force and intense realism.

MATTHEW PORTER

By GAMALIEL BRADFORD, JR. Author of "The Private Tutor," etc. With a frontispiece in colors by Griswold Tyng. $1.50.

When a young man has birth and character and strong ambition it is safe to predict for him a brilliant career; and, when The Girl comes into his life, a romance out of the ordinary. Such a man is Matthew Porter, and the author has drawn him with fine power.

Theodore Roberts' CAPTAIN LOVE

The History of a Most Romantic Event in the Life of an English Gentleman During the Reign of His Majesty George the First. Containing Incidents of Courtship and Danger as Related in the Chronicles of the Period and Now Set Down in Print.

By the author of "The Red Feathers," etc. Cloth decorative, illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. $1.50.

A stirring romance, with its scene laid in the troublous times in England when so many broken gentlemen foregathered with the "Knights of the Road." (Ready in April.)

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES

By L. M. MONTGOMERY. Cloth decorative, illustrated. $1.50.

Every one, young or old, who reads the story of "Anne of Green Gables" will fall in love with her, and tell their friends of her irresistible charm. In her creation of the young heroine of this delightful tale Miss Montgomery will receive praise for her fine sympathy with and delicate appreciation of sensitive and imaginative girlhood. (Ready in April.)

Helen M. Winslow's SPINSTER FARM

By the author of "Literary Boston," etc. Illustrated from original photographs. $2.00.

Whatever Miss Winslow writes is good, for she is in accord with the life worth living. The Spinster, her niece "Peggy," the Professor, and young Robert Graves,—not forgetting Hiram, the hired man,—are the characters to whom we are introduced on "Spinster Farm."

Light-hearted character sketches and equally refreshing and unexpected happenings are woven together with a thread of happy romance of which Peggy, of course, is the vivacious heroine. Alluring descriptions of nature and country life are given, with fascinating bits of biography of the farm animals and household pets. (Ready in May.)

THE HOUSE IN THE WATER

By CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS. Author of "The Haunters of the Silences," "Red Fox," "The Heart of the Ancient Wood," etc. With cover design, 20 full-page drawings, and many minor decorations by Charles Livingston Bull. Cloth decorative, with decorated wrapper, $1.50.

Professor Roberts's new book of nature and animal life is one long story in which he tells of the life of that wonderfully acute and tireless little worker, the beaver. "The Boy" and Jabe the Woodsman again appear, figuring in the story even more than they did in "Red Fox;" and the adventures of the boy and the beaver make most absorbing reading for young and old. (Ready in April.)

FICTION

The Belle Islers

By Richard Brinsley Newman

Profusely illustrated by WALLACE GOLDSMITH, Cartoonist on the Staff of the Boston Herald. $1.50.

The year's great laugh-maker among books. All the typical oddities, vanities, mean streaks and good points of a country town, as experienced by the family of an honest, simple-hearted minister, are set forth with keenest wit. The clever work of Mr. Goldsmith does much to bring out the mirthful qualities of the story.

The Castle of Dawn

By Harold Morton Kramer

Author of "Hearts and the Cross" and "Gayle Langford."

Illustrated, $1.50.

A story of love, recklessness, intrigue, bravery and final good fortune, crowning as wild an episode as was ever shared by a handsome and prominent young man and woman. The "Castle" is located in the Ozark Mountains.

JUVENILES

The Yale Cup

Sixth volume of "Phillips Exeter Series."

By A. T. Dudley

Illustrated. $1.25.

The "Dudley Books" are known as sure sellers to every one who sells juveniles, and each new one breaks all records of its predecessors. As is the case with all these books the athletic sports are treated with expert knowledge.

Dave Porter in the Far North

Fourth Volume of "Dave Porter Series."

By Edward Stratemeyer

Illustrated. $1.25.

That Edward Stratemeyer is the most widely read of all living American writers for boys is a fact so well proven as not to need repetition, and the success of the "Dave Porter Series" is already surpassing Mr. Stratemeyer's previous triumphs. In this new volume Dave continues the search for his father, and has surprising adventures in the North.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD COMPANY, - Boston

McClure Books for the Spring of 1908

☞ All aboard for a new tour in the world of romance—personally conducted by

C. N. and A. M. Williamson

Authors of "The Car of Destiny," "The Princess Virginia," "Lady Betty," etc.

The Chaperon

☞ A most delightful and engaging love-comedy whose serial publication under the title of "The Chauffeur and the Chaperon," attracted wide-spread interest. This time quaint and interesting Holland is the scene of Cupid's manœuvres; the little love-god has a powerful accessory in the trim motor-boat which was left to Nell Van Buren and Phyllis Rivers by their rich uncle. These two young persons in the company of a young American, a young Dutchman of noble family, and a "chaperon," undertake a long cruise through the romantic waterways of the Netherlands, a voyage which is one round of incident and full of exciting surprises. The story is quite equal to the best the Williamsons have written, and it will be greeted with eagerness and anticipation by their large and growing audience.

Ready early in May. With sixteen illustrations by Karl Anderson. $1.50

☞ An exciting new novel of adventure by that admirable writer—

Arthur Stringer

Author of "The Wire-Tappers," "Phantom Wires," etc.

The Under Groove

☞ Victor Hugo said that to thrill the reader was to produce genuine literature. If this be true, then Arthur Stringer is, in his own particular line, a master. With a rush and a swing we are drawn almost in the first line into a story that is simply crowded with excitement and mystery and ingenious adventure. The hero is a most attractive and interesting personality upon whom the adventure-lust descends suddenly with irresistible force. This insatiable craving leads him into many astonishing situations which, by a strange fatality, bring him into closer and closer relation with the daughter of a magnate, Edith Shaler. Between the two a situation full of deep romantic interest develops. THE UNDER GROOVE is unquestionably Mr. Stringer's best book.

Ready in April. With eight illustrations by Emlen McConnell. $1.50

"Fragrant memories of the old home"

EUGENE WOOD

Folks Back Home

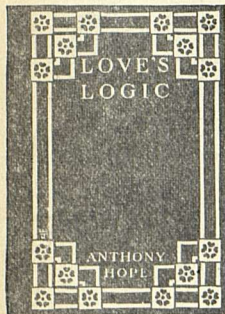

By EUGENE WOOD

Author of "Back Home"

A new volume of deliciously human sketches dealing with the same conditions of life and the same types of character as the author's earlier book, "Back Home." No one who has in childhood tasted the joys of country life, and whose memory occasionally harks back to the old home, will read the new volume without tenderness and reminiscence. Like "Back Home," when you have finished it with a blur in your eyes, you will not know exactly where your stories and Mr. Wood's were welded.

Cloth, $1.50

Stories worthy of the author of Zenda

Love's Logic

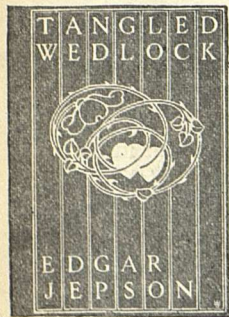

By ANTHONY HOPE

Author of "Helena's Path," "The Dolly Dialogues," etc.

Fifteen delightful new stories by this brilliant writer, dealing in the main with different aspects of life among the upper and aristocratic classes of England, often penetrating even further, into the homes and hearts of royalty. Each story is in itself a perfect little record of human life; some humorous, some sad, some exciting and full of adventure. The logic of love—so often regarded as the most illogical of human passions—dominates them all.

Cloth, $1.25

A fascinating new fiction character

Tangled Wedlock

By EDGAR JEPSON

Author of "The Admirable Tinker"

To Tinker and to Lady Noggs Mr. Jepson has added a new clever character creation in Iseult, the sprightly and versatile heroine of this highly entertaining novel—the first in which he has appealed exclusively to an older audience of readers. Brought up in a Bohemian literary set in London, Iseult, who feels the falseness of its ideals and atmosphere, drifts gradually away from it and marries a young sculptor in whom she has found a kindred spirit. Later they are forced to separate and Iseult becomes involved in her extraordinary "tangle of wedlock" from which, however, there is a happy issue for both the lovers.

The Vermilion Pencil

By HOMER LEA

The first real Chinese novel ever written

General Lea is at the head of the Chinese Reform Army, and his remarkable knowledge of the Chinese, gained from almost a lifetime's association among them, is revealed on every page of this superb romance in which a most sensational plot is combined with touches of the most tender pathos and beauty. The story deals with the charming girl-wife of a wealthy mandarin who flees her home with a Breton priest. The pair are caught and the young woman is handed over to the tender mercies of Chinese justice to escape, almost miraculously, from its clutches. The story is keyed to a tense pitch throughout and the reader is held in the inevitable grip of its interest to the end. Cloth, $1.50

GENERAL HOMER LEA

The Sisters

By MRS. PERCY DEARMER

"The sins of the father," etc.—a strikingly brilliant book

A story of great beauty and power containing at least two subtle characterizations that raise it far above the plane of the average work of fiction. It is concerned with the lives of the two daughters of an English nobleman, Ruth Templeton and Rose de Winton, and the consequences entailed upon them by the sin of their father. The book is of the most unusual literary merit and the author handles her delicate theme with restraint and a deep human sympathy.

Cloth, $1.50

Katharine Trevalyan

By LOUISE MAUNSELL FIELD

A fine romance of New York's society

A brilliant novel of New York society seen from the inside. No recent writer has given so full and accurate an account of life as it is lived by the very rich and the very fashionable in our own time. Miss Field has skilfully depicted this life with all its characteristic color and incident, its follies and foibles, its vices, and even its virtues. Against this variegated and moving background, the author places in sharp contrast with its hectic coloring, the pure and elevated character of her heroine and develops a story of singularly strong emotional interest.

Cloth, $1.50

Adventure—Romance—Mystery

The Flying Death

By SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

Author with Stewart Edward White of "The Mystery"

The adventure
novel of 1908

"With a vigorous flight of imagination, Samuel Hopkins Adams attains in his new novel a front-rank place among fictionists of the Jules Verne school."

Philadelphia North American.

"With Stewart Edward White he wrote 'The Mystery,' far and away the most exciting tale of last season. Now he turns the trick alone." Cleveland Leader.

"There is about it a certain dignity that shakes its head at any extravagance of expression. It is far better to copy the author's restraint, to say that the story, in its parts and in the whole, is excellent—how much so one must read and find out for himself."

Chicago Tribune.

C The remarkable train of events which followed closely upon the appearance a few years ago on the upper Long Island coast of a most amazing phenomenon that threatened to devastate a village. Scientists, baffled by the strange visitation, drew startling and uncertain conclusions as to the identity of the terror. From the first page the story is wonderfully fascinating.

With four illustrations by Charles Raymond Macauley. $1.50

Virginie

By ERNEST OLDMEADOW

Author of "Susan"

The love-romance of the season

"It was a fortunate day for American readers of fiction when Mr. Oldmeadow decided to let himself be introduced across seas." New York World.

"Charming and artistic." New York Sun.

"A most successful story."

New York Globe.

"This romantic, impossible, but very entertaining story." Newark Star.

"The reader will sit up and take notice after he has read a few pages of 'Virginie.' The story is what the ungodly would call a hummer." Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Certainly this plot is unique. Certainly this story is entertaining." Denver News.

C Certainly a more original, more charming and delightfully unconventional love-story has not held a reading public captive in some time. The interest is immediately gripped from the first chapter by the purchase by a young man for twenty dollars, of the inanimate form of the heroine, Virginie, encased in a cake of ice, supposedly a wax figure representing Fame Asleep. The swift succession of events that follow her resuscitation, and the untangling of the mystery of her startling debut, make a story which is hardly surpassed in fiction for its wealth of thrilling climax and the piquant interest of its romance.

With frontispiece and picture cover in colors. $1.50

The Magistrate's Own Case

By BARON PALLE ROSENKRANTZ

A most unusual
detective story

"One of the best written stories of mystery ever conceived by the fertile brain of its industrious author."

Louisville Courier-Journal.

"The book should take rank as a classic in criminal fiction." Springfield Union.

"Taken as an attack on the system by which society attempts to punish crime, this book is powerful and thought-compelling; regarded simply as a police novel, it is ingenious and absorbing; considered in both aspects together, and as a love story with much insight into human nature, composed with literary skill, 'The Magistrate's Own Case' is a remarkable work."

Brooklyn Standard-Union.

C The critics are unanimous in the opinion that we have in the Baron Rosenkrantz, a writer of detective fiction whose literary activities will bear watching. The startling theme of the present story—the flimsiness of circumstantial evidence and the fallacy of the jury trial—and the splendid legal and story-writing ability displayed by the author in its application, have called forth the highest praise from every quarter. The story is far removed from the usual sensational mystery type; it makes its appeal more strictly to the intelligent reader, to whom it will offer much food for thought and discussion.

Cloth. $1.50

The Round Up

A ROMANCE OF ARIZONA

Novelized from EDMUND DAY'S popular melodrama

By JOHN MURRAY and MILLS MILLER

Far more thrilling and stirring in action than the play, which is now touring the country with great success. The book is vivid in color, passionate and tender in emotion, hearty and wholesome in humor and powerful in moral force.

12mo. Cloth bound. Illustrations from scenes in the play. $1.50

The Chorus Lady

Novelized from JAMES FORBES'S play

By JOHN W. HARDING

The play has run more than two thousand times. The character sketches in the book are charming in their heart interest and a description of New York, the City of Splendid Night, is a rare poem in prose that will impress itself upon the minds of all who have viewed the metropolis after dark and of those who have not.

12mo. Cloth bound. With Illustrations from scenes in the play. $1.50

Gertrude Elliott's Crucible

By Mrs. GEORGE SHELDON DOWNS

Author of "Katherine's Sheaves," "Step by Step," etc.

This story is of a high standard, teaching that conquest of self alone conquers others and crowns life with real happiness. Mrs. Downs invariably appeals to all that is pure and true in her readers; arouses an aversion for all that is false and ignoble and thus her books become a power for good in the world.

12mo. Cloth bound. Illustrated. Price, $1.50

Go To It

By GEO. V. HOBART

Author of "John Henry," etc.

The first of the "John Henry" books was issued in 1901, which immediately proved a winner. Since that time Mr. Hobart's books have reached a sale of over 800,000 copies and served fun for the million. He strives always to make the last book the best. He always keeps abreast of the times, his language is up-to-date, and he always wins out.

The Marquis and Pamela

By Edward H. Cooper

With illustrations by Julia A. Roper.

A clever novel describing the wooing of a well-known gambling marquis, presenting a brilliant picture of smart English sporting society. The story throbs with the tense excitement of famous race-meetings and the crowded lives of the devotees of the turf. $1.50.

The Bond

By Neith Boyce, author of "The Eternal Spring," etc.

A remarkable novel on modern marriage. "The Bond" has the double significance of a union and a yoke, as the best marriage may be sometimes the one and sometimes the other. A frank book, essentially a study of sex, though not a "sex-problem novel" in the ordinary sense. $1.50.

A Modern Prometheus: A Novel

By Martha Gilbert Dickinson Bianchi

An unusual blending of the conventional colours of mediaeval Italy with those of the complex palette of modern international life. The heroine is an American, and the manner in which she works out her own salvation under the influence of a young Italian priest furnishes a novel of striking interest. With a frontispiece, $1.50.

Jacquette: A Sorority Girl

By Grace Ethelwyn Cody

With illustrations by Charles Johnson Post

The story of a high-school girl, emphasizing the secret-society phase of modern school life. Young people will discover Jacquette to be a winsome and sprightly young lady, while their elders may expect to find in the book a definite answer to the absorbing question, 'Does the high-school secret society work for good or evil?' $1.25.

The Shepherd of the Hills

A Novel by Harold Bell Wright, Author of
"THAT PRINTER OF UDELL'S"

A spell-binding story of love, mystery, heroic daring and moral courage. It will stir the warm blood of any true-hearted man or woman who reads it.

PRAISED EVERYWHERE

"There are many bits of excellent description in the course of the story, and an atmosphere as fresh and sweet and free from modern grime as one would breathe on the Ozark trails themselves."—New York Times.

"Amidst all the ordinary literature of the day, it is as a pure, white stone set up along a dreary road of unending monotony."—Buffalo Courier.

"It is filled with laughs and tears, this beautiful story, and no one can help laughing or crying in turn, if his heart is right."—Pueblo Chieftain.

"One of the best novels written in the English language for over a decade. * * * Good luck to the man who can put upon paper so fine a novel of American life."—Pittsburg Press.

"One of the really good books of the year. . . . A powerful and analytical study of character."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"The people who move within it are so human that the reader of their story will pick them out for like and dislike, as if he had really known them in the flesh, rather than in the pages of a book."—Chicago Journal.

THE MAN OF YESTERDAY

By MARY HOLLAND KINKAID

A NOVEL unique in historical interest. The scene is laid in Indian Territory before the admission of Oklahoma to statehood. The heroine is a college-bred girl of extraordinary charm, the daughter of a white missionary and the descendant of Indian chieftains. She is loved by a distant Chickasaw kinsman and by a white man who comes to the Territory as agent for a land-grabbing syndicate. A romance of thrilling interest is developed against a background of political intrigue. It is a story of a great love persisting through extraordinary trials to a triumphant conclusion.

Through the pages of the book move lifelike figures of men and women hitherto unknown in fiction. The picture of Indian life which is presented is amazing to one who does not know the facts, but it is a true picture.

Window Gardening

This is a concise and simple manual, of equal use in the schoolroom or the home, giving practical and definite instructions as to the care of house plants. The nature of the soil required, how to manage bulbs, cuttings, slips and seeds, what plants thrive in sun and what in shade—all these things are set forth clearly. More than forty pictures illustrate the author's ideas.

A New Novel by the Author of
THE YOKE and SAUL OF TARSUS
The CITY of DELIGHT

By ELIZABETH MILLER

Miss Miller's new novel is a love story with the fall of Jerusalem for its staging and historical basis.

This stupendous subject the author has treated with her now well-known grasp and power.

Pestilence-stricken Ascalon; Jerusalem in its dire plight between warring factions within and the besieging force of Romans without; the emotional conflict between old Israelitish beliefs and the new Christianity; a sense of thronging multitudinous life, of Jew and Persian and Roman, Pagan and Christian, soldier and lord; the canvas is vast and the colors dramatic.

Author is director of the Physico-Chemical Nobel Institute, Stockholm, and one of the most independent of modern scientists. He formulates the theory that "from the principle of the mechanical radiation pressure of light"—that rays of light falling upon a surface tend to push that surface back—a new theory of world building has been evolved. He thinks Venus and Mars alone of our planetary system are habitable and possibly some of Jupiter's moons. He contends the universe never had a beginning and can never have an end, but is constantly changing and we on earth are constantly receiving "solar dust."

The hero, a young Kentuckian, has been left a large inheritance, provided he will live on his estates and spend his time and fortune to fight the battles of the oppressed negro and work for his education and final position as a man of another race, but still of the "stuff of a man," not a brute. He hesitates; all the old Southern prejudice holds him back. He goes to his lands to study conditions and there meets men and women who start him in his work for the negro. The horrible conditions at present existing are not condoned, but much of the evil is traced to the white man.

A plot of unusual intricacy, in which hypnotism "second sight" and mind transference are important factors, has its scene in an English noblemen's family. Two sisters, born of mothers in totally different spheres of life, are characters of almost equal nobility and interest. A military station on India's northwestern frontier in the early '80's is the scene of a realistic story of a soldier's life. The characters are English and native officers, with their wives and sisters and sweethearts. Captain Desmond occupies the centre of the stage at all times. He is an ambitious, efficient officer, brave to recklessness. His foolish little wife, who has no appreciation of her husband's responsibilities would, if possible, have him turn his back on all dangers and devote himself to her amusement. Her friend, Honor Meredith, is a foil to her lack of character. Full of enthusiasm and rich in common sense, she and Desmond become deeply interested in each other. The end is thrilling and dramatic.

A young novelist receives a letter from an unknown woman asking that she be permitted to read the concluding chapters of his serial, as she is hopelessly ill and may not live until it is finished in the magazine. Verrian finds he has been hoaxed and resents it furiously. Later it chances that, ignorant of each other's identity, they meet at a winter house party, where the girl is engaged to provide entertainment for the guests. A curious chain of circumstances results, elaborated and analyzed by the author's characteristic method, with a wholly unforeseen climax.

Opens in the year 70 A.D., culminating in the siege and downfall of Jerusalem, "the City of Delight." The greater part of the story has its setting in Jerusalem, in the home of Amarrilis, a beautiful Greek, where the majority of the characters finally congregate. The heroine is Laodice, who journeys to Jerusalem to meet her husband, Philadelphus Macabaeus, to whom she had been married when four years old. Her father dies on the way of the pestilence and she is robbed of her dowry and letters. In Jerusalem friendless and alone, her husband having mysteriously disappeared, she is for a time the centre of a cruel intrigue. She, with other Jews, learns the story of Christ and obtains comfort in the knowledge. By the author of "The yoke."

Mosby, Colonel J: Singleton. Stuart's cavalry in the Gettysburg campaign. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. 33+222 p. por. map, O. cl., $2 net.

Presents the story of the Gettysburg campaign of the Civil War. It starts with the cavalry combat between Stuart and Pleasonton. Col. Mosby has worked long on this book, written "as a duty I owe a soldier to whom great injustice has been done." Col. Mosby brought the information that made Stuart ask permission to cross the Potomac in the rear of the enemy when he was ordered to the Susquehanna and was chosen to command the advance of Stuart's column, so he was in position to know all the details about which there have been such differences of criticism as the years have gone by since the summer of 1863. The point of view is of course from the Confederate outlook.

Mulford, Clarence E: The orphan; il. in col. by Allen True. N. Y., Outing Publishing Co., 1908. c. 9+399 p. D. $1.50.

The author of "Bar-20" again tells a story of the West, this time a complete novel. "The orphan" is introduced as an outlaw with every man's hand against him; evading pursuit and capture only by his wits and his skill in gunplay. He meets the heroine during an attack on a stage-coach by Indians, and after he has escaped a sheriff and fled from blood-thirsty Apaches, he succumbs to her gentle influence and becomes a useful citizen. His treatment of the author of all his wrongs is a feature of the tale.

Post, Emily. Woven in the tapestry. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. 11-139 p. D. vellum, $1 net.

Of these fourteen poetical tales the author's introduction says: "These are the tales of Ateria, a country which long ago lay on the distant borderlands; of the pagan King Thyaterion and his daughter, the Princess Alacia; of the Hermit in the forest, and of the stranger who came to live for a while as the Hermit's disciple. And also these are the tales of those who lived in the village, and of those who lived in the City, and lastly of the Forest itself, and of the Gardens of the King."

Rath, E. J. The sixth speed; with front. by C. Weber-Ditzler. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. 408 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The story deals with the astonishing career of a motor boat of amazing speed (such a boat, as the writer predicts, may be a reality in 1925) and the way its career affected the affairs of hero and heroine, the dwellers alongshore and aboard yachts, and the American and Japanese nations.

Ray, Anna Chapin. Quickened. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1908. c. 358 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The son of a New York millionaire becomes so involved in speculation that only by flight can he avoid exposure and arrest. Therefore under an assumed name he joins a party of Catholics who are setting out on a pilgrimage to the Church of Sainte Anne de Beauré near Quebec. But with him also goes the one man who knows the story of his crime and has penetrated his disguise. In Quebec Thorne Alstrom takes up a new life, makes new friends, French-Canadian and English, and comes under the influence of the Catholic church. Religious faith and human love strengthen him to abandon finally his life of deception, even though it may cost him his earthly happiness. By the author of "Ackroyd of the faculty," "Hearts and creeds," etc.

Raymond, G: Lansing. The psychology of inspiration: an attempt to distinguish religious from scientific truth and to harmonize Christianity with modern thought. N. Y., Funk & Wagnalls Co., 1908. c. 19+340 p. D. cl., $1.40 net.

Author is professor in the Philosophic Department of George Washington University. To those on the borderland between the Christian and the non-Christian the book will present many new thoughts. It appeals to serious, open minds.

Sinclair, May. The judgment of Eve. N. Y., Harper, 1908. c. '07. 123 p. il. D. cl., †$1.25. "And thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee" is the judgment of Eve, on which the story turns. A meek and loving wife encourages selfishness and unconscious neglect in her husband. Her household of many children and the endless work made necessary by small means wear her out, while he seeks recreation and follows out his individual aspirations untrammelled by the cares for which he is largely responsible. A psychological study based on most realistic circumstances. Gotten up as a gift-book with dainty borders, but should be presented with discrimination. First published in Everybody's.

Slaughter, Philip, D.D. The history of Truro parish in Virginia; ed., with notes and addenda, by Rev. E: L. Goodwin. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1908.] c. '07. 5+104 p. il. plan, facsim., D. cl., $1.50 net.

The vestry records of Truro Parish were recovered and preserved by Rev. Dr. Philip Slaughter, clergyman, genealogist, antiquarian and historian. They had been lost to sight for three-quarters of a century. He committed them to the Vestry of Polick Church after he had compiled the present history, which was completed by the rector of that church. The manuscript has now been rewritten, the quotations verified, the old spelling retained. The vestry of Truro Parish, one of the oldest in Virginia, included some of the men most famous in the forming of the American Colonies.

Snath, J: Collis. William Jordan, Junior. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1908. c. '07. 498 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A study of an exceptional character by the author of "Broke of Covenant." William Jordan, poet, dreamer, recluse, is thrown into the very vortex of modern commercial London, with remarkable results.

This new edition is published simultaneously in England and America, and a new volume will appear each month until the twenty-two volumes are out. The original edition was in sixty-six volumes, and was published at more than three times the price of the present edition. The first volume of the re-issue comprises the first, second, and third volumes of the original edition. Furthermore, the new edition has been corrected and some of the bibliographies have been revised.

Torbett, D. The schemers. N. Y., C. H. Doscher & Co., [1908.] c. 157 p. S. cl., 75 c.

A clever satire on the smart set of New York. The schemers are Mrs. Van Agan, of an old Knickerbocker family, looking for a second husband with wealth, and Mr. Wentworth-Wentworth, who has wealth but is without social position. The means by which they are brought together in the bonds of matrimony are amusing.

Walk, C: Edmonds. The silver blade: the true chronicle of a double mystery; with 5 il. in color by A. B. Wenzell. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1908. c. 407 p. O. cl., $1.50.

Señor De Sanchez, a Mexican, is mysteriously murdered by a silver dagger under circumstances which seem to point with equal certainty to any one of four people, three of whom might easily have wished for his removal. The plot is complicated by a second murder, the victim, a General Peyton Westbrook, father of two of the people who may have been concerned in De Sanchez's death. The unraveling of the mystery, following many clues, makes up the plot of the story.

Warner, Anne, [Mrs. C: Ellis French.] Seeing England with Uncle John: with il. by Frederic R. Gruger. N. Y., Century Co., 1908. c. 8+3-492 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

By the author of "Susan Clegg and her friend Mrs. Lathrop," "Seeing France with Uncle John," etc. A more maddening travelling companion than Uncle John one can hardly imagine. He is a remarkable American who loves to travel, but the quicker he can do up a foreign town the better he is pleased. He goes to England, taking with him a staid old college professor, and he writes to his niece and her husband, who live in Oxford, to meet him—but neglects to give steamer or date. He lands at Liverpool, gallops up to Carlisle and Edinburgh, takes in the west coast of England on the run, with the niece and her husband tagging on behind and trying to overtake him. Uncle John is exceedingly funny and never guesses he is funny.

Who's who in America: a biographical dictionary of notable living men and women of the United States, 1908-1909; founded, 1899, founded and ed. by Albert Nelson Marquis. Rev. and issued biennially. Chic., A. N. Marquis & Co., [1908.] c. '99, '01, '03, '06, '08. 32+2400 p. D. cl., *$4 net.

Contains 16,395 names and sketches, 2057 of which have not appeared in any previous edition. In addition are also references to sketches in previous editions, making available for reference over 20,700 personal sketches of prominent Americans now living, or who have passed away since the first edition of "Who's who in America" was issued in 1899. The geographical index to the present edition is an entirely new feature. It groups by states, cities and post-office address all the names in the book, making it easy to find quickly the names for any particular station or locality.

Wolfe & McKenzie. Book of designs; prepared from designs originated by Wolfe & McKenzie, architects, San Jose, California; containing 98 house plans with figured measurements, also half-tone photographs of the actual work. San Jose, Cal., Wolfe & McKenzie, 1907, [1908.] c. 83 p. il. plans, obl. O. pap., $2.

The houses described and pictured in this book have all been erected, making it possible to give conservative and accurate estimate of the cost of each house. A "Cost of labor and material" table is included, which may be compared with local prices in other cities in estimating plans selected.

Wood, H. Wellington. Winning men one by one. Phil., Sunday School Times Co., [1908.] c. 7-119 p. D. cl., *50 c. net.

A collection of incidents from the author's own experience in winning men for Christ.

Zogbaum, Rufus Fairchild. The junior officer of the watch; il. by the author. N. Y., Appleton, 1908. c. 7+311 p. D. cl., *$1.50.

The junior officer of the United States cruiser "Dearborn," flagship of the European squadron, is introduced going on shore at Lisbon with a telegram to send for his lieutenant. This telegram began all the troubles the artist-author's imagination makes him undergo. Life aboard ship is graphically described, and the beautiful sights of Gibraltar and the Mediterranean make a telling background for the pretty love episodes.

INDEX TO SPRING ANNOUNCEMENTS.

In this department the announcements of books to be published during the Spring season are indexed under author and title, with as much information as publishers were ready to give in advance of publication. Books which appeared before February 1 in our "Weekly Record of New Publications" are not included.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds.," particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 21, 1908.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE SPRING OUTLOOK.

THE outlook for the Spring, so far as the booktrade is concerned, while still cloudy, is hopeful nevertheless. Progress in almost every direction is slow; but each week brings a little improvement, and confidence grows more rapidly than current transactions. It is gratifying to note that it is the great Northwest and the West in general that is more hopeful of the future than at this season last year, and it is to be hoped that their enthusiasm will become contagious, and also infect the East, which just now is inclined to hold back and wait—for what it is hard to discover.

The book business since the turn of the year has been fairly normal. True, there has been no "boom" in any of the departments, and there is likely to be no boom for some time to come; indeed, it is to be hoped that booms—really only an euphemism for inflation—may be deferred for ever. There was a strong demand for Valentines during February, thanks to the post-card innovations in this line, and business was also mildly stimulated by the extra demand for the better class of St. Patrick's Day cards. The Lenten season promises to yield at least the usual returns, and may be greatly improved by a more vigorous canvass.

As for the publisher, there seems to be no indication that the future has any terror in store for him. Thus far, there has been the usual output of books—418 publishers having already marketed about 1500 books in twelve weeks. The announcements for the Spring, also, are nearly up to the number announced during the past few years, reaching, or possibly exceeding, 2000 titles in all. While fiction, as usual, is in the lead, religious works predominate this season, due to the fact, perhaps, that despite the apparent indifference of the masses toward the so-called established religions, the majority is convinced that "man shall not live by bread alone," and therefore either seeks support for a weakening faith in the traditional, or a refuge in a new form of religion. Politics and government, also, are well represented in the announcements of forthcoming books, stimulated no doubt by the impending struggle between the great political parties for the supremacy in the election of their candidates for the presidency.

We are inclined to believe that the publisher, in providing so generously for the future, is in the right. The presidential election this year should have but little immediate effect on the business life of the people, who by this time must have learned that changing administrations are as powerless to affect the country as are the changing seasons. The backbone of the nation, the farming community, promises to be as prosperous this year as last, and the industrial community having checked much of the reckless speculation of the past years and brought a number of the "glorious larceners" to book, is building and expanding upon a firmer foundation than ever. Mills and factories are gradually resuming work, and the number of the unemployed—distressingly large even in what are considered to be good times—is steadily diminishing. The timid and hesitating member of the community will therefore find himself in the position of the man who, as the editor of Appleton's tersely puts it, "once picked a kettle off the stove and then dropped it with a cry of pain. He thought himself badly burned until he found there was no fire in the stove." That is, he is unduly alarmed by a theory, not by a situation. While, as ever, we would warn against speculation in buying, we would also urge the bookseller to display the proper kind of enterprise to the end that his constituency may be stimulated to take heart and to lend a hand in the restoration of confidence.

LITERARY PIRACY IN THE NETHERLANDS.

The Author, the organ of the English Incorporated Society of Authors, in a recent issue criticises the denial, by the president of the Association of Booksellers of the Netherlands, that literary piracy continues in the Lowlands, as follows:

"We understand that the president of the Association of the Booksellers of the Netherlands objects to the Dutch booksellers being branded as literary pirates, and thinks this statement not only a gross error but most unjust. It is not a matter of much importance to know what was done in the way of piracy before the Berne Convention was brought into being; the real question is, what is the present attitude. The booksellers and publishers of Holland have, we believe, a strong organization, by which if any one of their number gives notice that he intends to publish a book of a foreign author the other members of the organization are bound for two years not to deal with the same book. So far so good. But there are two faults to find with this arrangement. First, that it is made entirely for the benefit of the bookseller and publisher and not the author. Secondly, that it is easy for the pirate to escape from these obligations.

"In the good old days before the very inadequate copyright law was passed in the United States a somewhat similar arrangement existed, with the result that the author got an honorarium, say £50, where he would now get £300. So now in Holland an author may get £10 where he would get £50. All the protestations of the president are therefore unconvincing from the author's standpoint.

"But if we take our illustration again from the United States, it is the simplest matter on earth for the real pirate to ignore the combination, and stand outside and publish foreign authors, regardless of authors or the members of his trade. This took place across the Atlantic, for as soon as the smart American, (smart is, we believe, the correct word,) saw there was money in piracy he ignored the organization and the author. The same lack of principle animates to-day the slim Dutchman. We have evidence of the fact. The author, therefore, will lose even the miserable pittance he received from the organization, and the statements of the president, prompted, no doubt, by an honorable motive, will prove incorrect in practice."

To this the Nieuwsblad voor den Boekhandel makes the following reply:

"The above goes to show what strange ideas are entertained by foreigners as to what took place in this country in the nineteenth century and is still done at the present day in regard to the unauthorized reprinting of foreign works.

"It seems impossible to separate the present day from the past, judging from continued accusations, as though the Netherlands had been during the nineteenth century, and is still, a country in which reprinting of foreign works is constantly done.

"To continue to dispute this question, after all that has been said already, may be deemed superfluous.

"One must, however, point out the very faulty comparison drawn between the Netherlands and America in the above-mentioned article.

"An arrangement was arrived at between America—where an innumerable number of unauthorized reprints of English books appeared—and England, in which, under certain conditions, it was mutually agreed that no more books should be reprinted. Now there is a desire in England to arrive at a similar agreement with the Netherlands, so that henceforth it should not be allowed to reprint English books in the Netherlands.

"But need it be repeated that in the Netherlands, neither before nor after the Berne Convention was brought into being, no English books—there have been but three in the course of the century, which cannot even be noted as exceptions—have been reprinted, and that by reason of an absolutely independent abstention therefrom, without any binding agreement or regulation? Is there not every reason to regard this persistent maintenance of this ridiculous accusation as a proof of how little one will be convinced, and of an endeavor to continually envelop the facts of the case in systematic misrepresentation?

"Moreover, the comparison between the capabilities of America and the Netherlands is amusing, and once more gives an idea of the utter ignorance with local circumstances. Fancy only the Netherlands realizing £50—and that for an unauthorized reprint!

"Expressions such as 'slim Dutchman' may be ignored. Similar terms, and such as are very popular here and are highly characteristic, might be applied on our part in return to the Englishman; but why use such illustrations, which have nothing whatever to do with the subject in question?"

THE BIBLIOPHILE SOCIETY OF BOSTON AT DINNER.

THE BIBLIOPHILE SOCIETY OF BOSTON held its annual dinner in the Hotel Knickerbocker, in New York City, on March 14. The society was formed in 1901 to study and promote the arts pertaining to fine bookmaking and illustrating. Senator Thomas F. Grady acted as toastmaster. Among the guests were Henry H. Harper, Horace E. Deming, John Duveen, Felix M. Warbury, Paul M. Herzog and Edward Lauterbach.

Nathan Haskell Dole, president of the society, defended "the sin of collecting rare and costly books." Instead of condemning he sympathized with the bibliophile who had two copies of a rare book and destroyed one of them to make the other more valuable. Mr. Dole feared he might be called a heretic for saying so, but he doubted that he could give approval to the act of a book collector who left his rare specimens to a museum or a library. "Of course it is a benefit to humanity in giving them a chance to see these works," said Mr. Dole, "but then think of the tragedy to the collector! His joy in the hunt of the auction rooms is spoiled."

W. H. W. Bicknell, of Winchester, Mass., made a plea for etching as superior to reproduction by mechanical process. Horace E. Deming also spoke.

THE THINKERS' CLUB.

SEYMOUR EATON, the creator of The Book-lover's, Tabard Inn and other circulating libraries, contemplates new adventures in the book field. Whereas, in his earlier ventures he was the rival, if not opponent, of the bookseller, he now, in a measure, figures as a dependent upon the bookseller's favor, inasmuch as he is about to enter the publishing field. The object of "The Thinkers' Club," as Mr. Eaton's publishing enterprise is called, is to "issue books that will 'fill the gap between the condensed magazine article and the exhaustive and expensive book.' For this purpose the club's publications will be of a uniform size—from 8000 to 12,000 words—and sold at the uniform price of 25 cents. The great majority of these books will be new and written for the club by well-known authors. In addition to these the great books of the world, both past and present, will be published in abridged form, with the consent of the authors and publishers where that is necessary. The first of the club's publications will be ready by the first of May. These will consist of books of a serious character, a number of which are by men who 'have been known up to the present time as great captains of industry rather than as great writers.' By the first of July the club will place on sale on every important railroad newsstand the first six numbers of its 'Pulman Car Fiction' wrapped in attractive tag paper bearing the label 'Each story good for 100 miles of entertainment.'" With Mr. Eaton, the president, will be associated Julian Hawthorne, as vice-president; Harold Bolce, as secretary, and Edwin Liebfreed as treasurer.

NO CHANGE IN CONTROL OF THE LONDON TIMES.

THE court, according to cable despatches, has settled the litigation respecting the London Times by sanctioning the formation of a company consisting of the members of the present staff of the newspaper, who will carry it on on existing lines. Nothing apparently will be changed. C. F. Moberly Bell will act as managing director of the new company, and Arthur F. Walter will be chairman of the company's board. George E. Buckle remains chief editor and V. Chirol foreign editor.

It is stated unofficially that $1,600,000 was paid for the good will of the Times. The names of the providers of the new capital have not been divulged. The London Chronicle says it hears that Lord Northcliffe supplied the controlling amount.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS ORGANIZING.

THE commercial travellers of New York City met on Saturday afternoon, March 14, under the auspices of the American Traveling Men's League at the Broadway Central Hotel and decided to organize at once to fight for a universal 1000-mile interchangeable mileage ticket at two cents per mile and for the privilege of carrying 250 pounds of baggage, instead of the 150 pounds now allowed.

RAILWAY TICKETS MADE FROM OLD NEWSPAPERS.

THAT newspapers are constantly left on the seats in railway trains nobody with the slightest power of observation need be told. On the other hand, few people would suppose, says the Chicago Tribune, "that these discarded papers could prove of any value to the company controlling the line. But this is essentially the age for the utilization of waste products, and great corporations are quick to own any labor or money saving device.

"Probably the strangest development in this direction would appear to be that now prevailing in Belgium. Upon the government railway systems newspapers left in the train are the property of the nation, to be used by it for the manufacture of railway tickets. The papers are carefully collected and sent to the head depot, where they are reduced to pulp and a special variety of cardboard for ticket purposes is prepared.

"Some idea of the amount of raw material readily available to the railway authorities from this source may be gathered from the fact that the accumulation of discarded newspapers upon the whole network of government railways aggregates about seven hundred pounds a day, representing over one hundred tons a year. The saving from this source alone, which is no mean one, can readily be calculated."

BEST-SELLING BOOKS IN ENGLAND DURING FEBRUARY.

THE London Book Monthly reports that the following books have been in greatest demand in England during February: Somehow Good, by William de Morgan. The Ancient Law, by Ellen Glasgow. Come and Find Me, by Elizabeth Robbins. Wheels of Anarchy, by Max Pemberton. The Coming Struggle in Eastern Asia, by Putnam Weale. Leaves from a Life, (Anonymous,) piquant, intimate, almost indiscreet reminiscences by the daughter of a painter who is easily identified.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE ELECT OFFICERS

THE new Board of Managers of The Booksellers' League met at the Café Thomas, New York City, on Wednesday evening, March 18, Charles A. Bowman in the chair, to elect its officers for the ensuing year. The election resulted in the choice of E. Byrne Hackett, first vice-president; J. B. Pratt, second vice-president; A. G. Seiler, secretary, and Charles A. Burkhardt, treasurer. Edwin O. Chapman was chosen to take the place of Charles A. Bowman on the Board of Managers. The following committees were appointed by the president of the League:

Entertainment Committee: Frederick D. Lacy, E. B. Hackett, R. E. Sherwood, E. O. Chapman.

Finance Committee: T. E. Shulte, James MacDonald, A. Giralidi.

Membership Committee: A. Growoll, Samuel Reis, J. Wirth.

Printing Committee: Charles A. Burkhardt, Cass Richardson, William G. Preston.

Publicity Committee: A. Growoll, A. Wesels, E. B. Hackett.

Reception Committee: Charles E. Butler, John A. Holden, Frederick D. Lacy.

STATIONERS' BOARD OF TRADE—ANNUAL DINNER.

THE annual dinner of the Stationers' Board of Trade of New York, given at the Waldorf-Astoria on the evening of March 18, was attended by upwards of one hundred members and their guests. After justice had been done to the excellent dinner of eight courses, Henry C. Bainbridge, the president of the Board, before introducing the speakers, briefly reviewed the work of the Board during the past year, urging more active co-operation on the part of the members of the Board with the officers in making their work more widely useful. He also offered some suggestions as to certain business details connected with the stationery trade. Commissioner Edward E. Huber then spoke on the manufacturer selling direct to the consumer, in which he proved that the question was not so one-sided as many suppose, that in some cases it was almost a necessity—especially in making a market for new and practically unknown goods which the retailer is slow in pushing, or that he will not handle at all until they become better known. The Rev. J. Herman Randall, of the Mount Morris Baptist Church, spoke on Appreciation, in the sense of valuing and understanding, so eloquently as to rouse his hearers to cheer again and again. The Hon. Robert J. Wilkin, one of the judges of the Children's Court, impressed upon his hearers the value of good example to those in their employ as well as of the responsibility of individual direction; Frank W. Bailey, of Thorp & Martin Co., of Boston, spoke reminiscently of the work of the Stationers' Board of Trade of Boston, of which he has been president for a number of years, and extended a cordial invitation to all stationers to be present at the annual convention of the Stationers' Association to be held in Boston in July. James T. Hoile, secretary of the Manufacturers' Association of New York, spoke at length on the evils of combinations whose object is the coercion of its members, whether it be through the walking delegate or the promoter of a corporation. The hands of the clock were pointing to midnight when the gathering broke up.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ROBERT MANNERS, formerly a dealer in second-hand books in New York City, died on March 10 at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., aged eighty-seven years. Manners came to this country in 1848 and established himself in the book business at 114 Division Street, where he remained until 1888, when he retired. His wife, who had also reached her eighty-seventh year, died six hours before her husband.

PER AARON LAMM, the well-known Paris publisher and bookseller, died in Paris on February 15. Lamm was born in Stockholm, in 1854, and about 1875 went to Paris to become an assistant in the book business of his countryman, C. Nilsson. In 1885, Lamm took the place of his chief, who was obliged to withdraw from business on account of his health, and later became the proprietor of his business. Lamm established agencies in Holland, Belgium, England, Italy, Greece and in Asia Minor. For a time he was the publisher of the Figaro Illustré. His greatest achievement as a publisher was the issue of the "Catalogue Général de la Librairie Française," in continuation of Otto Lorenz's important work. This was edited by his chief assistant, D. Jordell, also a countryman of Lamm's, who has brought the work down to the present time in annual volumes.

DANIEL SIDNEY APPLETON, the English representative of D. Appleton & Co. since July, 1901, died of heart disease in London, March 17. Mr. Appleton was born in New York City, April 6, 1860. He was graduated from Yale University in 1880, and soon after took a position with the firm of D. Appleton & Co., of which his father, Daniel Sidney Appleton, a son of the founder of the firm, was a member. Later Daniel Sidney, Jr., also became a member of the firm, in which capacity he remained until the firm was reorganized and became a corporation, when he became its treasurer, and was subsequently made its vice-president. Mr. Appleton's father was one of the first representatives of his firm in London. Although acting as representative of the New York firm Mr. Daniel Sidney Appleton was also an independent publisher. All the medical works issued with the Appleton imprint were published by him, and he also brought out other works prepared under his own supervision.

THE REV. DR. JACOB CHAMBERLAIN, for half a century engaged in missionary work in India, died on March 2 at Madanapalle. Dr. Chamberlain was born on April 13, 1835, in Hudson, O., of Pilgrim stock. His early education at the Western Reserve College and Union Seminary was interrupted by ill health, and he finally graduated at New Brunswick, which he chose to be under the influence of Dr. Campbell. His medical studies were pursued chiefly in the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York, but he received his degree of M.D. from the Western University Medical College at Cleveland, O. In 1859 he was sent to India by the Board of Foreign Missions, and from that time on his name has been indissolubly associated with India. From 1863 to 1901 he was stationed at Madanapalle; later he removed to the cooler climate of Coonoor. Among his best-known books are "In the Tiger Jungle" and "The Cobra's Den." Besides these he brought out a new revision of the Bible in the Telugu language, a Telugu Bible Dictionary and Hymn book, "The Bible Tested in India," "The Religions of the Orient," "The Opportunity of the Ages," etc. At the time of his death he had completed a work entitled "The Kingdom in India—Whose?" which will shortly be published by Fleming H. Revell Company, as a memorial volume with a biographical sketch by his lifelong friend, Dr. Henry N. Cobb, secretary of the Reformed Church Board of Foreign Missions.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

GENERAL HOMER LEA, the author of "The Vermilion Pencil," the novel of Chinese life just brought out by the McClure Company, is at work on two serious books. One of these, to be entitled "The Valor of Ignorance," is an adverse account of the army and navy of the United States; the other will be on the rise and fall of the Chinese dynasties. One connected with the publishing business for upwards of a quarter of a century, who read "The Vermilion Pencil" in manuscript, writes that "General Lea is as near being a genius as any person I have ever met in my life."

OUIDA PREFERRED TO SPELL HER NAME RAMÉE.

PUBLIC LIBRARY, Peoria, Ill., March 18, 1908.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: In THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of February 15, just to hand, page 853, you quote a correspondent of the New York Sun as saying that Ouida spelled her family name Ramé.

In 1894, in getting out a fiction catalogue, I found that catalogues and authorities differed as to the spelling of her name, and I wrote "Ouida" January 18, 1904, for information.

E. S. WILCOX.

(Lucca) 10 Sept., 1894.

SIR: In reply to an enquiry from you dated Jan'y, 1894, I beg to say that no name save that of Ouida should be put in a Library Catalogue, but the spelling of my other name, with which the public has nothing to do, is de la Ramée.

I remain yrs.,
O.

BUSINESS NOTES.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Book Shop, (A. E. Goetting,) has removed from W. Fourth Street to 20 E. Seventh Street.

CINCINNATI, O.—It appears that the failure of the Robert Clarke Company was due to the embarrassment of the Laning Company of Norwalk, O., the president of which, J. M. Laning, was also largely interested in the Robert Clarke Company. Howard Barney has been appointed receiver. No schedule of the affairs of the company has been filed as yet, but the liabilities are reported to be $45,000 and the assets $130,000. It is supposed that these figures will be materially reduced when a definite statement is made.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.—E. B. Beeson has purchased the interest of his partner in the postoffice bookstore. The firm name will be changed to the E. B. Beeson Stationery and Curio Company.

NEW YORK CITY.—Robert Grier Cooke, Inc., called a meeting of their creditors, who came together on the 13th inst., J. J. Little acting as chairman. The assets were roughly stated at $6000 and the liabilities at $12,000.

A committee was appointed and ordered to further investigate the affairs of the company.

NEW YORK CITY.—James A. Jenkins, bookseller, will remove next month from Fifth Avenue to 313 Madison Avenue, near Forty-second Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—J. W. Schermerhorn & Co. will remove on May 1 to 12 W. Thirty-Third Street, between Fifth Avenue and Broadway.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE ROYCROFTERS, at East Aurora, N. Y., are preparing to publish a new monthly magazine to be entitled "The Fra, a journal of affirmation." According to the prospectus "The Fra stands for art."

The Home Magazine, issued for the last ten years by the Bobbs-Merrill Company, has been purchased by the Uncle Remus Magazine of Atlanta. The price paid is stated at $150,000. The Home Magazine is to be discontinued with its May issue and consolidated with its purchaser under the name of Uncle Remus' Magazine, and in the future will be printed from the latter's big plant in Atlanta under the editorship of Joel Chandler Harris.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA has published as its Library Bulletin No. 16 "A List of First Editions and Other Rare Books in the Weinhold Library," compiled by W. R. R. Pinger. Karl Weinhold was an authority in Germanic archaeology and mythology and a pioneer in the study of the history of German dialects whose working library accumulated during his long and distinguished career was secured to the department of German in the University of California through the munificence of John D. Spreckels, of San Francisco. The library, consisting of upwards of 8000 volumes, is representative of all branches of Germanistic study. (144 p. 8°.)

THE H. M. CALDWELL COMPANY, Boston, has published an édition de luxe catalogue of their "Books for Commencement." The catalogue is a work of art, each page being bright with appropriate decorations printed in several tints and the cover in tint and gold. The contents include also lists of their books for young people and their series of books for booklovers. It is, however, a dangerous catalogue for a bookseller to have lying around within reach of his customers, because it is certain to be carried off, and the bookseller may also be annoyed with calls for the books listed in it which it might give him trouble to take off his shelves and wrap up and then be worried taking care of the money he received for them in exchange. (16 p. 4°.)

THE PROCEEDINGS AND PAPERS OF THE BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SOCIETY OF AMERICA, v. 1, pt. 2, is largely devoted to the meeting held in Providence, R. I., with the American-Historical Association, the Political Economy, Political Science and Social Science Associations, in December, 1906. The interest lies in the various papers in which the bibliographic needs and possibilities of the social sciences are discussed. W. Dawson Johnston gives a survey of existing attempts in that direction, while Dr. E. C. Richardson discusses future possibilities; and the needs of branch sciences are presented in short papers by several speakers. Clarence S. Brigham gives an interesting paper on the need of a bibliography of American colonial newspapers, and a specially valuable contribution is the list of bibliographies published by historical societies in the United States, which Isaac S. Bradley has prepared to accompany Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites's paper on the bibliographical activities of these societies. The proceedings of the Society at its Narragansett meeting, July 2, 1906, are also covered in this volume.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish this spring the "Bibliography of Ralph Waldo Emerson," compiled by George Willis Cooke. Mr. Cooke, the compiler of the Lowell bibliography, has been a life-long student of Emerson's writings and is well known as the author of an important study of Emerson, as well as of a preliminary bibliography of his writings, published some years ago, and of other works dealing with the Transcendental Period, in which he is thoroughly at home. In the present bibliography he has swept the field clean and brought together a list of practically all of Emerson's widely-scattered writings, with valuable supplementary lists of translations, biographies, critical studies, etc. In the arrangement of the bibliography the needs of both the collector and the student have been kept constantly in mind, and the book will be found to answer most readily all possible bibliographical questions concerning the writings of Emerson. The volume is uniform with the bibliographies of Hawthorne, Lowell and Holmes already issued. It is printed from type on all-rag paper specially manufactured for this series, and is bound in smooth cloth, with paper label, and limited to 550 numbered copies, of which 500 are for sale.

POST-CARD NOTES.

EDWARD STERN & Co., Philadelphia, have decided to go out of the post-card business.

THE WORLD POST CARD COMPANY, of Philadelphia, has removed to 45 North Ninth Street, where it will have twice as much room as at its old place.

W. G. MACFARLANE has removed to 29 West Thirty-second Street, New York City. He has just added a number of new lines to his post-card and mailing novelties.

THE BROADWAY POST CARD COMPANY, New York City, has been incorporated in New York by Frank H. Davis and Ellen E. Davis, both of New York City, and Francis B. Watson, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

THE recently organized Post-Card Importers, Manufacturers' and Publishers' Protective Association, John Bergman, president, has established its headquarters at 1193 Broadway, New York City.

THE post-card department of the American News Company has issued its spring catalogue, No. 4. It contains illustrations and descriptions of a great variety of post-cards, including a number of new lines.

THE presidential campaign this year promises to become a factor in the post-card business. Already the tentative candidates are pictured in various attitudes and their sayings are reproduced in numerous styles of type. The wide-awake dealer will not only avail himself of this opportunity to increase his sales, but will also employ this medium to exploit candidates for local offices, which he may do without regard to party bias. As we have pointed out before, the possibilities of the post-card business promise to become well-nigh inexhaustible.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

B. W. DODGE Co. have just ready a collection of stories, mainly of the sea, entitled "A Tarpaulin Muster," by John Masefield.

THE MCCLURE COMPANY will publish early in April a new story by Arthur Stringer, author of "The Wire Tappers," etc., entitled "The Under Groove," full of adventures and mystery, though it is not a "wire-tapper" story.

HEARINGS upon the pending copyright bills will be held on March 26, 27 and 28, beginning at ten o'clock in the forenoon, before the Senate and House Committees on Patents, who will sit conjointly in the Senate Reading Room at the Library of Congress.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready a treatise on "The Principles and Practice of Harbor Engineering," by Brysson Cunningham, author of "Dock Engineering." The volume contains 18 plates and 220 illustrations in the text.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just brought out a clever book entitled "Proposals to Kathleen—a Maiden's Meditation," by Mrs. W. K. Clifford, author of "Love Letters of a Worldly Woman," the heroine of which lectures charmingly upon man in general and man as a suitor in particular.

C. H. DOSCHER & Co., 156 Fifth Avenue, New York City, will publish on the 28th inst. "The Great Issue," a novelized version of "The Undertow," a play by Eugene Walters. The publishers were compelled to make this change in the title owing to the fact that there is another novel called "The Undertow" in the field.

A. N. MARQUIS & Co., Chicago, have just brought out the fifth biennial edition of that extremely useful reference book, "Who's Who in America," for 1908-1909. The work has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date, and now contains upwards of 16,000 sketches of the leading men and women of the country.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY has just brought out "Life's Understudies," by Ina Rozani, author of "An Actress's Pilgrimage," a novel of English theatrical life among the rather medium class of actors; also, "The Adventures of John Johns," by Frederic Carrell, author of "An Education," a study of a type of selfishness that wins success.

HENRY ALTEMUS COMPANY, Philadelphia, will publish on April 15 a story of a shrewd but unscrupulous promoter, entitled "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford, a Cheerful Account of the Rise and Fall of an American Business Buccaneer," by George Randolph Chester.

The book is said to be "an intimate sidelight on swindling as a fine art."

KARL W. HIERSEMANN, Leipzig, has brought out an interesting contribution to the history of bookselling in the fifteenth century, entitled "Buchhändleranzeigen des 15. Jahrhunderts, in getreuer Nachbildung herausgegeben von Konrad Burger, Bibliothekar des Börsenvereins der Deutschen Buchhändler zu Leipzig." The work is a large folio, and issued at 60 marks.

GINN & Co.'s New York office is being victimized by an unknown thief, who buys books in their name on forged orders. The blank used is a common form signed with a rubber stamp which reads "Ginn & Co. per M. R. S." The trade is cautioned against this person and requested in case he presents himself again to communicate with Mr. Martin, of Ginn & Co.'s, 'phone number 3960 Chelsea.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY will publish at once a story dealing with the fall of Jerusalem, entitled "The City of Delight," by Elizabeth Miller, which as a picture of one of the great religious crises of the world, and the record of probably the greatest siege in history save that of Troy, would earn its place even if the love-drama—a romance which touches many people and discloses many minds—were omitted.

ON an order signed by Supreme Court Justice Fitzgerald, William J. B. Atwater, former manager of the A. C. Gunter Publishing Company, was arrested on March 12 in an action brought against him by The New York and Pennsylvania Company, a paper manufacturing concern of 41 Park Place, to recover $6318 for paper supplied to the Home Publishing Company, with which Atwater was connected. In default of $7000 bail Atwater was committed to the Ludlow Street Jail.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY have just ready "Love and the Ironmonger," a fantastic tale by F. J. Randall, which in point of farcical imagination and gay spirits recalls the "Vice-Versa" of F. Anstey, the delight of the reading public twenty years ago; "Resurgam," a poem by John Elliott, with a frontispiece reproduction in colors of a painting by Maxfield Parrish embodying one of the lines of the book; also, "Interludes and Poems," by Lascalles Abercrombie, a new poet of great originality and power.

L. C. PAGE & Co. will publish on the 25th inst. "The Call of the South," by Robert Lee Burnham, publication of which was deferred owing to the delay caused in preparing an unusually large first edition. They will publish during April a new book by Theodore Roberts, entitled "Captain Love: the history of a most romantic event in the life of an English gentleman during the reign of his Majesty George the First, containing incidents of courtship and danger as related in the chronicles of the period and set down in print."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish at once a new book by Frances Powell, author of "The House on the Hudson," etc., entitled "Old Mr. Davenant's Money," a story of mystery and sentiment, where a plot of the most ingenious and unusual kind is worked out in a very skilful way, the scene of which is laid in eastern Long Island; also, "The Old Room," by Carl Ewald, a Danish novel translated into English by Alexander Teixeira de Mattos, an intensely modern story of domestic life, which has attracted considerable attention in Denmark on account of the frankness and dramatic force with which it is written.

"BOOKS AND READING," which the Baker & Taylor Co. will publish in the fall, is a compilation, not an original work, prepared by Roscoe Crosby Gaige and Alfred Harcourt. It is the aim of the compilers to provide a booklovers' vade-mecum of the great essays written about books, bookmen and bookmaking, quoting either in full or the most desirable fragments—their aim being to avoid the platitude and to include only the most human things written about their subject. The volume will reunite old friends and admit some unfamiliar wanderers with strong claims to friendship.

FREDERIC FAIRCHILD SHERMAN, for many years connected with Charles Scribner's Sons and for the past year in charge of the manufacturing department of Robert Grier Cooke, Inc., has recently opened an office at 42 West 39th Street, New York City, as a publisher and dealer in rare books. He is prepared also to offer suggestions for distinctive printing of all kinds, to be executed under his personal supervision. Mr. Sherman is already well known for his taste and good judgment in manufacturing books, and his long and varied experience in the publishing business has fitted him for the work he is undertaking.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. will publish early next month "Her Ladyship," a new story by Katharine Tynan, author of "The Story of Bawn," etc., breathing an atmosphere of sweet naturalness and genial mirth characteristic of the Irish people, for which Walter J. Enright has made a frontispiece; "Into the Primitive," by Robert Ames Bennet, author of "For the White Christ," etc., a story of the adventures of three passengers shipwrecked on an uninhabited African coast, with four full-page pictures in color by Allen T. True; also, "An American Student in France," by Abbé Felix Klein, author of "In the Land of the Strenuous Life," a picture of France as it might be viewed by a student from America, with illustrations from photographs.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just ready Anna Chapin Ray's new novel, "Quickened," which has its scenes laid in Quebec. It is a book of contrasts—of French, English and American type, of Catholicism and of stern Puritanism, of the life of the body and the insistent demands of conscience. The novel has many a picturesque description serving as a background for the drama of human life which the author has presented, and the characterizations are all markedly individual and natural. They have also just ready Bourget's "Le Emigré," translated under the title of "The Weight of the Name," and "The Supreme Gift," the story of Washington life by Grace Denio Litchfield, both of which have already been fully described by us.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will bring out next month "The Philosophy of the Spirit," a study of the spiritual nature of man and the presence of God, with a supplementary essay on the Logic of Hegel, by Horatio W. Dresser, who regards the divine presence in the light of human responsiveness, the effect on man's conduct, the powers involved and the faculties at work; the second volume of "The Muscles of the Eye," by Dr. Lucien Howe, an important work to be completed in three volumes, of which this volume deals with the pathology of so-called eye-strain, with deviations latent or apparent, the paralyses and operations; also, "Inscriptions of the Nile Monuments," by Garrett C. Pier, especially intended for reference for tourists.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready "The Psychology of Inspiration," by George Lansing Raymond, professor in the Philosophic Department of George Washington University. His work is an attempt to distinguish between religious and scientific truth and to harmonize Christianity with modern thought. Of those to whom the manuscript has been submitted, Dr. J. Mark Baldwin, Professor of Psychology in Johns Hopkins University, declared the psychological part "new and valuable;" Dr. Edward Everett Hale said: "In the range, only too wide, of superficial talk on these great subjects, nobody has presented them from this point of view," and Dr. William T. Harris, ex-Commissioner of Education, predicts that "it will interest many" because it "will prove helpful to serious-minded people who find themselves on the borderland between the Christian and the non-Christian."

THOMAS NELSON & SONS put their chief strength, as ever, into Bibles and Prayer Books and Hymnals, and have again in preparation many new styles of type and bindings for their large list in this line. A little set of books in 32°, in minion type is devoted to the "Gospels and the Acts" in the American Standard version. They are put up in black flexible cloth covers and retail at 5 c. each. Five volumes are now ready. Among other forthcoming books are "How It Is Made," by Archibald Williams, author of that successful book "The Romance of Invention," who now tells about the making of paper, glass and chinaware, rubber goods, steel, etc.; "Queen Bee and Other Nature Tales," translated from the Danish of Carl Ewald, intended for children but full of things many grown-up readers will learn with absorbed interest; also, three new volumes in their New Century Library—Irving's "Sketch Book" and "Bracebridge Hall," "Longfellow's Poems" and Palgrave's "Golden Treasury of English Songs and Lyrics."

EDWARD STERN & Co., Philadelphia, will issue on May 1 "The Last Egyptian: a romance of the Nile," with illustrations by Francis P. Wightman. Its hero is Prince Kara, last of the ancient royal Menes line, who is lavishing his treasure, hidden for centuries, in his attempts to lure a fair English girl into his possession. Her lover proves her guardian in the web of revenge, intrigue and adventure that is woven about her. It is a tale of the present, but the background has the mystery of old Egyptian life. The illustrations are in vivid color and represent several exciting scenes of the dramatic plot. They will bring out in May a new book for young people, entitled "The Diary of a Birthday Doll," by Ethel C. Dow, with six full-page color illustrations by Florence England Nosworthy and thirty pen drawings by Louise Clark Smith. The book is a large quarto, bound in cloth, with an inlay color picture on front cover. It will no doubt appeal strongly for an all-year-round birthday gift-book as well as for a holiday publication.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY will publish on March 25 "Country Residences in Europe and America," by Louis V. LeMoyné, a well-known architect and landscape gardener; "In the Potter's House," a novel by George Dyre Eldridge; a dainty leather-bound pocket edition of Kipling's "Kim;" Hauptmann's dream play, "Hannele," rendered into English by Charles Henry Meltzer; and "The Ideas of a Plain Country Woman," one of the most popular series ever published in the Ladies' Home Journal, by "The Country Contributor." Early in April they will bring out "The Shell Book," with eight pages of illustrations in color and 96 full-page photographs by Julia Ellen Rogers, author of "The Tree Book." They will bring out in May "The Spanish Jade," by Maurice Hewlett, who in this short novel gives to English-speaking readers a valuable insight into several phases of the nature of the Spanish people with whom we, in this country, are so intimately concerned. Aside from its value as an index to certain of the springs of action of the people with whom it deals, it is a most absorbing story of dramatic incident and romantic devotion.

THE London Academy expresses surprise at Maurice Hewlett's recent letter to the English literary and other journals repudiating responsibility for the price charged for his short story, "The Spanish Jade," just published by Cassell & Co. Says the Academy, "since, as Mr. Hewlett states, Messrs. Cassell purchased the copyright, they have a right to charge what they like for copies of the book. We do not approve of a vendor depreciating his wares after he has sold them. A publisher has as much right to consideration in this respect as any other purchaser. A deservedly popular writer such as Mr. Hewlett can be no ingénu in dealing with publishers, and there is no reason to suppose that he accepted from Messrs. Cassell less for his book than he could get elsewhere. Apart from this strong probability, Mr. Hewlett's unfortunate letter would suggest that he repented him of his bargain, and was annoyed that Messrs. Cassell were about to profit by their own perspicacity. The fact that copies of longer works by Mr. Hewlett can be purchased at the same price is surely no criterion. Mr. Hewlett would scarcely wish the excellence of his work tested by a yard measure."

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. have in preparation a large paper edition of "The Complete Works of George Eliot," in twenty-five volumes, limited to 750 sets. The text will include John Walter Cross's biography of his wife and a new volume of essays never before printed with her works. Each book has its own introduction, and the illustrations in photogravure and water-color are signed by the artist or engraver. The prices of the edition range from $125 to $600 the set. They have also in hand two large undertakings in their Riverside Press edition, namely, an augmented English edition of Bernard's life of the great Renaissance designer and printer, Geoffrey Tory, elaborately and profusely illustrated, and a sumptuous folio edition of Dante's "Divina Commedia," to contain both the complete Italian text and Professor Charles Eliot Norton's prose translation, and to be embellished with drawings from the rare designs of Botticelli. So engrossing and complicated has the work on these two important books proved to be that Mr. Rogers finds it necessary to give practically all his attention for the present to them, and it has therefore been thought best to forego the customary spring publications this year. The Geoffrey Tory will be published in the autumn of 1908, and one or two other small books of great interest may be expected about the same time. Announcement of these will be made in due season. It is hoped that the Dante will be ready for publication in 1910.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY will shortly publish in a new series of books for boys, to be entitled The Pacific Series, three books by Professor Edwin J. Houston, who in a recent biographical sketch in the Philadelphia North American was referred to as "the most popular boy in Philadelphia who is sixty-three years old." The first of the books in this series is "Five Months on a Derelict," and describes the experiences of two men and two boys, and eventually of an additional boy, on a derelict brig in the Pacific. The second is "Wrecked on a Coral Island," in which the characters that figure in the first book have a number of interesting experiences on a lonely coral island, during which an endeavor is made to give a variety of information concerning the formation of a coral island, as well as some of the most curious of its animal and vegetable life. The book is full of fun and adventure, and should convey considerable information to its readers. In the third volume, "In Captivity in the Pacific," an account is given of some of the inhabitants of Polynesia, and the vegetable life of islands that are not volcanic in origin. Professor Houston, who is, as is well known, an electric expert, knows personally 50,000 boys and is known as "The Boys' Friend." He has been working for boys all his life, and spends much of his valuable time writing story books for boys which will give them valuable scientific information of practical use in everyday life.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in preparation "The Kingdom in India—

Whose?" by the late Rev. Dr. Jacob Chamberlain, which was in press when word came of its author's death, and will now be issued as a memorial volume, with a biographical sketch by his life-long friend, Dr. Henry N. Cobb. They also announce another book on missions by Dr. James S. Dennis, entitled "The New Horoscope of Missions," a series of lectures delivered at the McCormick Theological Seminary on the Converse Missionary Foundation, which summarize from a missionary point of view the significance of the new era which has come with such startling suddenness in the contemporary history of nations long regarded as non-progressive and negligible; the first three volumes of G. Campbell Morgan's "Analyzed Bible," which form the beginning of his extended analysis of the entire Bible, to be completed in about thirty volumes; "The Saloon Under the Searchlight," by George R. Stuart, who for years has been in the thick of the fight for Prohibition, especially in the South; "Missions Striking Home," by J. Ernest McAfee, addresses on the Home Mission enterprise; "Ancient Jerusalem," by the Hon. Selah Merrill, former United States Consul at Jerusalem, a work which is the result of thirty-five years of thorough study and exploration, accompanied by over one hundred charts, maps and photographs; "A Life with a Purpose," a memorial of John Lawrence Thurston, first missionary of the Yale Mission, by Henry B. Wright; "Beyond the Natural Order," essays on prayer, miracles and the Incarnation, by the editor of The Interior, of Chicago, Nolan Rice Best; also, "Our Silent Partner," a "devotional study of the Holy Spirit," by Alvah Sabin Hobart, professor in Crozer Theological Seminary.

Dodd, Mead & Co. will publish on the 28th inst., Elizabeth Ellis's new novel, "The Fair Moon of Bath." Bath, the famous English resort, the theme of dozens of writers, furnishes the background of the story, which is not just as good as the author's earlier novel, "Barbara Winslow," but better. Other books to be brought out at the same time are "The Dissolving Circle," by Will Lillibridge, a strong story of Western life, in which there is an interesting picture of that odd colony who sojourn in Sioux Falls, S. D., only for the purpose of securing divorces; "Lord of the World," by Robert Hugh Benson, author of "The Light Invisible," etc., a story of the "Looking Backward" kind, which deals with the question that interests all thoughtful people, namely, What is the world tending to?; "The Man Who Was Thursday," by Gilbert K. Chesterton, a past-master in sophistries and casuistry, whose new book is said to stand in the class with Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Wrong Box;" also, "The Vigil," a theological novel, by Harold Begbie, author of "The Penalty," etc., which is described as, above all, "a masterly presentation of true and stable Christianity." The visit to this country of Frederick Van Eeden, the Dutch novelist, poet and leader in practical communism, and his stirring address before the Civic Forum, has attracted more than usual attention to this remarkable personality and his work—to the man who came to America because he had "something very serious" to tell us, and who thought we would listen because we "like to fight despotism." One of his absorbing, realistic novels, "The Quest," has been translated into English and was published in this country last year. Dodd, Mead & Company announce that through special arrangements with Mr. Van Eeden and his translator they have added "The Quest" to their list, and that hereafter the book will be for sale by them, and that future editions will bear their imprint.

EVOLUTION IN LITERATURE.—Friend: How'd you come to write that "best seller?" The Modern Lit'ry Gent: First I was struck by a thought. I epigramized the thought, sketched the epigram, playized the sketch, novelized the play and advertised the novel.—Wasp.

"THE late Mr. Barnum, perhaps the greatest showman on earth, is generally believed to have originated the saying: 'You can fool some of the public all the time, and all the public some of the time, but you cannot fool all the public all the time.'"—London Publishers' Circular. Shade of Abraham Lincoln!

WHAT IS IT?—The following was received by a New York publishing house:

Read it in secret

6 F, 1908
Mr. Director of the Library, — and Company,
New York

DEAR SIR: Without any disturbance, I pray your Lordship, if you have it, or you can get it, I wish the black hart book, printed from the sixteenth century. It is such book without do any preparation before, only while I read will appear the devil; and if you don't have any in English language, if is Italian or Latin language, it is the same thing; provided that while I read in the book will appear the devil.

If your Lordship send me the book, I pay it to you at any price.

Answer me soon; I am your Servant

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

IMPORTANT BOOKS

MODERN ARTISTS

By CHRISTIAN BRINTON

Size, $7\frac{1}{2} \times 10\frac{1}{2}$. About 350 pages. Four illustrations in 4 colors, 56 half-tones. Cloth, gilt stamping. Boxed, \$6.00 net.

This elaborate and handsome volume covers modern art in its widest field, ranging from Fragonard to Zuloaga. Each artist and his work is dealt with in the vital and suggestive text. The illustrations are elaborate and of the highest character. There are four plates in four colors, which include the reproduction for the first time in color of Rosa Corder, and fifty-six half-tone plates of exceptional excellence.

THE APPRECIATION OF MUSIC

By DANIEL GREGORY MASON and THOMAS WHITNEY SURETTE

Illustrated. $1.50 net.

The authors have aimed to provide readers who wish to listen intelligently to music with a practical guide to simple appreciation. It is in no sense a technical work, and it is intended for the music lover rather than the music student, but all who are interested in the art will find this work a mine of helpful suggestion.

OTHER VOLUMES IN THIS SERIES

HOW TO JUDGE ARCHITECTURE. By Russell Sturgis.

THE APPRECIATION OF PICTURES. By Russell Sturgis.

THE APPRECIATION OF SCULPTURE. By Russell Sturgis.

By Charles H. Caffin
Illustrated. $1.50 net.

THE APPRECIATION OF LITERATURE

By GEORGE E. WOODBERRY

Size, 7 x 9. About 200 pages. Eight illustrations. $1.50 net.

The value of this book is above the ordinary. It is rendered helpful to the general reader by its charming simplicity of style and the original nature of its contents. Mr. Woodberry's attitude towards his reader is that of a comrade rather than that of a critic.

BUILDING A HOME

By H. W. DESMOND and H. W. FROHNE

Size, 6 x 9. 200 pages. 100 illustrations, plans, and specifications. $1.80 net.

The great value of this book lies in its practical qualities. It is written by the editor of the "Architectural Record," assisted by Mr. Frohne, and its field is for the moderately-priced home, ranging from $5,000 to $25,000 in cost. The illustrations, of which there are many, are helpful and beautiful, and the plans are all drawn to scale.

MATERIALS AND METHODS OF FICTION

By CLAYTON HAMILTON

With an introduction by BRANDER MATTHEWS

Size, $5\frac{1}{2} \times 8$. 300 pages. \$1.50 net.

"Materials and Methods of Fiction" is intended for those students and general readers of fiction who desire to see the story in the making. Mr. Brander Matthews has written for it an introduction of several thousand words which is at once valuable and suggestive.

A HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE

By RUSSELL STURGIS

Three volumes, cloth, gilt top. Each 420 pages. Per set, $15.00 net. Half morocco, per set, $22.50 net. Volume 1 already published.

Volume II opens with a treatment of the architecture of India, China, Japan, and other Oriental nations, and includes also the Mohammedan architecture which arose out of the Byzantine styles, and finally the great Gothic school of Central and Northern Europe, up to the year 1300 A.D.

DR. ELLEN

By JULIET WILBOR TOMPKINS

$1.50

A vivid and dramatic story of life and love in the Californian Sierras.

IT WAS SUPPRESSED AS A PLAY

The Great Issue

Or

The Undertow

By EUGENE WALTER

Author of the play PAID IN FULL, now running at the Astor Theatre, New York

"The Great Issue ; or, The Undertow," was scheduled for production by a well-known management. Owing to conditions which arose between author and manager, the play was allowed to lapse and a large bonus was forfeited.

The large success of "Paid in Full" proves Mr. Walter a dramatist to be reckoned with, and "The Great Issue" will beyond a doubt prove him a strong novelist.

This is destined to be one of the year's successes.

THE CLIQUE

(ESTABLISHED 1890)

The Recognized Organ of the Second-Hand Book Trade

THE CLIQUE is read by every bookseller who deals in old books in Great Britain, and by many in the United States and on the Continent.

THE CLIQUE advertises for about 4000 books every week; books which are wanted by its Members, and for which they are willing to pay a fair price.

THE CLIQUE is issued to booksellers only, its motto being "The Trade for THE TRADE." Booksellers can therefore report to our advertisers in confidence that they will not be "cut" by amateur dealers, who are not obliged to make their living by selling books.

THE CLIQUE is the best medium for all advertisements which appeal to booksellers, and its rates are lower than those of any trade paper in the world.

SUBSCRIPTION 6s 6d ($1.50) per annum, post free; but as all subscriptions terminate in December subscribers may deduct 1s 6d per line for each week of the year that has passed.

JUST PUBLISHEDPROPOSALS TO KATHLEEN

BEING A MAIDEN'S MEDITATIONS

By MRS. W. K. CLIFFORD*Author of "Love Letters of a Worldly Woman."*

On the eve of her wedding day Kathleen bids a whimsical farewell to her batch of love letters from rejected suitors. Many of these letters, with her keen but kindly reflections, are reproduced, and will appeal to those who have had like experience, but particularly the younger set who may be wondering what happens on such occasions.

"Kathleen is refreshing . . . she lectures charmingly upon man in general and man as a suitor in particular. Her sense of humor is piquant and captivating."
